Dear Dr. Raab:

It was good to meet you at the opening of the Weill-Greenberg Center at Weill Cornell Medical College a few weeks ago. I appreciate your following up on our conversation by sending the materials about Hunter College and its plans to build a new science and health professions building on the Upper East Side.

I was pleased to learn that Hunter has such a strong track record in launching women and members of under-represented groups into careers in science and medicine, and that several recent Hunter graduates have gone on to graduate programs at Weill Cornell Medical College.

The proposal to develop Hunter's new science and health professions building on the Julia Richman site is an exciting one that would certainly strengthen the potential for collaboration with Weill Cornell. I hope you will keep me informed as plans for the project evolve.

Looking forward to our paths crossing again soon.

Best regards,
