64 The question was called and carried.

65
66 The 8-week Summer Session I Schedule was approved by voice vote without dissent.

67 Committee on Computing and Technology

68 Professor Stapleford presented the report dated 14 February 2007 in the absence of the Committee
69 Chair. The following resolution regarding a Web Management System at Hunter College was on the 70 floor:

71       Whereas, An attractive and informative web site is the most important public source of 72 information about the College; and

73
74       Whereas, The usefulness of the Hunter College web site as an informational and recruiting tool is 75 severely compromised by its failure to provide the most recent information about the school's 76 programs; and

77
78       Whereas, The current web site of the College includes links to Schools, Departments and
79 Programs which are not always well-maintained and up-to-date, largely because of the difficulty
80 of adding or changing information at the local level; therefore be it

81
82       Resolved, That the Hunter College Senate strongly urges the College to implement the purchase of 83 a content-based web management system to be available as soon as possible but at least by
84 September 2007; and be it further

85
86       Resolved, That this system should be structured to allow all appropriate departments and offices to 87 add and subtract information on their own as they deem necessary; and be it further

88
89       Resolved, That it should include sufficient funding to support training of department-based web-
90 masters and support of the system at the ICIT level.

91
92 After discussion Vice President Wang moved that the motion be postponed indefinitely.

93
94 Voting by clickers produced the following results: 11 in favor, 53 opposed, and one abstention. The 95 motion to postpone was defeated.

96
97 The main motion was on the floor.

98
99 The question was called and carried.

100
101 Voting by clicker produced the following results: 52 in favor, 10 opposed 1 abstention. The motion
102 carried.

106 Meeting of the Hunter College Senate
107 14 February 2007
108
109
110

111 The Chair informed the Senate that the President and Provost had requested that their report on CUNY
112 Performance Management Process be postponed to the next meeting.
113

114 CUNY Procedures for Handling Student Complaints About Faculty in Academic Settings

115 Professor Stapleford introduced the CUNY Procedures for Handling Student Complaints about 116 Faculty in Academic Settings as distributed. The “Procedures” are attached as Appendix V.
117

118 During discussion the Chair informed the Senate that the Administrative would refer the document to
119 the Committee on Academic Freedom with the request to report their recommendations to the Senate
120 at a future meeting.
121

122 After discussion it was moved that the meeting be adjourned. The motion carried and the meeting
123 adjourned at 5:25 PM.
124

125
126
127 Respectfully submitted,
128

APPENDIX II Report by the President

The following is a summary statement of President Raab's report to the Senate. She said:

"Good afternoon. I want to start by welcoming and introducing to all of you our new Counsel Gail Scovell. Gail joins us from the Guggenheim Museum where she was General Counsel."

She yielded the floor to Gail Scovell who said:

"I have been here for three weeks now, and I am looking forward to meeting you and working with you. I have left the law firm so that I could work inside in institution and really get to know my clients and understand their objectives. I hope you will visit my office and let me know what you need."

She yielded the floor back to President Raab who said:

"I know that on the agenda today is the new CUNY Student Complaint Procedure. Gail has been talking to 80th Street and is up to speed on some of the apparent requirements of the new process. So, she will be here as a resource in that conversation if wanted. Richard mentioned that the document may go to a committee and she will be happy to be a resource to that committee as well.

We received what for us at CUNY is very good budget news. The Governor's Executive Budget came out a few weeks ago. The first piece of good news is that the new money that was added to our budget last year through the Compact has been base line, meaning that it is included in this year's budget going forward. What that means for all of us is we have security for the people that we are searching for now, and those who have been hired will become part of our faculty and staff. We can also think about the money that we are using this year for one shot items, things that we needed to purchase, construction and that type of thing, and use that money to also bring in new full time faculty. I ask all of you to talk about this within your departments. Let your Chairs know what your priorities are. Chairs will be speaking to the Deans and we will be thinking again going forward about the allocation of those resources. This year we will be making a full presentation but the money has gone in a wide variety of ways. In addition to faculty, there have been a number of new hires in Student Services, which was sorely needed in advising. We have been able to lure scientists that we have been trying to recruit to Hunter, and are able to support their equipment and their labs. We have done renovations. There has been a lot of activity with these funds and it is very exciting and comforting that the money will continue.

Another very good piece of budget news is that the State is also funding all of CUNY's estimated mandatory increases in cost. So, all the increases in energy, fringe benefits and other kinds of contractual requirements are being funded. What has not been completely funded yet is CUNY's request for additional money for the Compact plan. Many of you may remember that this proposal was a five year plan with yearly additional increases from State aid Tuition, productivity at the colleges, and philanthropy at the colleges. The Governor's budget put in $4M, and there is a gap of about $24M to fully fund the Compact in terms of what has been anticipated. $19M of the $24M was to come from the increase in tuition, and the Governor decided not to ask for a tuition increase. As most of you remember, the Compact was predicated on trying to do increases of tuition that were incremental, that could be expected and predicted, and that would not be too hard to absorb by our students, rather than what typically happened in New York State, which was years of no tuition increases and then students were hit with an increase of couple of hundreds dollars, which was really a very difficult load for them to bear at that time. But the Governor has not funded that and most of us feel that it is unlikely that the Legislature will fund that $19M through tuition. We will be out lobbying the Legislature to see if they will close that gap. We are hopeful that some of this money will be increased. For CUNY this is a very small amount. At this time we are usually asking for hundreds of millions of dollars, not twenty four million dollars.

One other thing that did not happen this year in the Governor's budget was that TAP was not cut, which is a very positive thing for us and for our students. What has happened is that the independent colleges have come forward with a proposal to increase TAP funding in various ways. One is to raise the income limit for eligibility, and also some other ways. An increase in TAP, anything that can help students, is a positive thing for CUNY. We are also trying to make sure that the Legislature looks at the issue of the operating budgets of the public colleges, because at the end of the day as more and more higher income students become eligible for financial aid, more of that money is going to the private colleges and not into the public system. So, we will be back to you and ask for your support in lobbying our State elective officials.

In his message the Governor announced that there is going to be a Governor's Commission on Public Higher Education. One of the positive notes is that the Commission would look at the issue of tuition and take a cue from CUNY's proposal which is to have the smaller and more regular and more predictable increases in tuition, rather than these very high spikes. We don't know who is going to run this Commission yet and exactly what the other mandates will be, but we see it as a positive sign that in his remarks the Governor really focused on many of the ideas in the Compact. This is the most positive language and spirit towards public higher education that we have seen from the State Government in a long time and it is something that has left us very encouraged.

As you heard the Chancellor speak, CUNY is calling this "The Decade of Science," and this is again a very positive development for Hunter College. One very important part of this focus on science is a movement within CUNY to create joint degrees in the sciences where Hunter College and some of the colleges will be able to give joint doctoral degrees to our science students. The degrees would be from the Graduate Center and from the individual college. This is something that many of our scientists have been hoping for. It would strengthen our graduate programs. We are also hoping that as the Public Health School moves forward that there would also be joint degrees. At the moment there is no mechanism within the State Education structure to have joint degrees from a Graduate Center and a College. So, that is an issue that is pending right now, and something that the Provost is working on very closely with 80th Street. This movement is of great benefit to Hunter College. Two specific issues focus on science. One has been the Chancellor's decision to create a School of Public Health which will be at Hunter College. We have been working very hard and just last week the Letter of Intent for the Doctorate in Public Health was approved. This is moving along very rapidly. We need to have one student receive a Doctorate of Public Health in order to open a Public Health School. So, this is a little bit of a race against time, but it is an exciting development. The second exciting part of this is our plan for the Science building which fits perfectly with the Decade of Science. So, we are looking forward to next year as a five year Capital Budget plan. The Governor moved it up. It was supposed to be in two years, and we will lobby for funding for our Science building in a very significant form. The budgets of the last few years already contained $80M and $90M for the planning stages of the building, and we are looking forward to seeing the bulk of the funding in the next five-year plan, which will be worked on in the next year and voted on at that time.

In terms of the plan we had been talking about, this next step was a request for expression of interest, asking the real estate community who would be interested in purchasing the Brookdale campus. That request went out into the market a few weeks ago and the period will close next week. We have numbers of requests, which is good news. What the developers are picking up now in packages are: a description of the property and asking those who will be interested in buying the property with the constraints that the Schools in Julia Richman needs to get a new building on a site which will be designed in consultation with the Julia Richman community and the BOE, that the dorms will either stay on this site or six hundred beds will be replaced in an affordable fashion for our students, and that a developer will be willing to talk to us about working for swing space for our various Programs and the Schools that are on that site. So, we will soon start to meet with the people who have expressed interest, and the next step after that is to turn these discussions and what we have learned from the various people who would be interested in bidding what their needs in terms of information and structure of the deal would be, create that proposal and put that out on the market place to see who would be interested in purchasing the property. That should be out at the end of this school year or right around that time. So, things are moving along and it is actually a very exciting time in terms of our building and real estate agenda.

Roosevelt House is finally under full construction and we are extremely excited about that. We are hoping that some people will be able to move in and be able to use the building in Spring 2008.

I would like to thank Frank Steen and Louise Sherby. We now have a wireless library and we thank you very much."

President Raab concluded her report by answering questions from the floor.
