INTRODUCTION

In 1986, eight diverse feminists, who practice and teach organizing, began to meet and share experiences. The discussions that came out of these meetings lead to the formation of the Women Organizers' Collective. We began by exploring the various issues that inform and affect women and organizing. This bibliography is one of the projects of the Women Organizers' Collective. Our aim is to identify and examine what has been written for and by organizers with a feminist perspective.

In an effort to share information and resources on women and organizing, we compiled this list of books, articles, manuals and videos. The materials range from the theoretical to the practical. Some reflect a feminist analysis while others are simply non-sexist good organizing practice.

This bibliography is a developing work in progress. Many of the references were collected from organizers world-wide in response to a questionnaire sent to over 7000 women.

We are grateful to all the people who worked on this document. The bibliography was originally compiled by Susan Lob for the Women Organizers' Collective with Barbara Joseph, Peggy McLaughlin, Terry Mizrahi, Jan Peterson, Beth Rosenthal, and Fran Sugarman.

Additional people who worked on the bibliography include Lucy Fotis Brady and Bea Segal. The final editing was done by LuAnn Chiola.

We would like to thank Cheryl Hyde, Guida West, Elise Boulding, Mary Cronin, Mary Bricker-Jenkins, Susan DiMatteo and Sara Gould for the generous use of their bibliographies and resource lists. Not all the materials have been reviewed by us, and therefore, a particular listing does not necessarily constitute an endorsement of its content.

Since our goal is to fill an informational gap and to make these references usable organizing tools, we are requesting additional material, as well as critiques and summations of the references in annotated form from everyone who receives this. Currently, annotations for the references are being further developed.

An evaluation form has been added to the bibliography for any suggestions, criticisms, clarifications, more material etc.. Please note that some of the citations are incomplete. Therefore, we have added these listings in a separate category for easier visibility in the hope that others could provide the missing documentation. We recommend that this section be looked at with care and if full citations can be provided, please do so on the evaluation sheet.

The sections of the bibliography are basically self-explanatory; however, it is important to note that there may be some overlapping in theme. Also, some references may fit in more than one category. In situations such as these, we simply chose to list the material only in the section we thought best. Eventually we hope to have the bibliography cross-referenced and indexed. Again, comments and/or questions concerning this are welcomed.

We have also tried to put in as much information as possible, including where one may locate the material. Articles identified as being within the WOC File can be obtained through ECCO for 5 cents a page to cover copying expenses. Additional copies can be obtained through ECCO for $10.00 each.

To order additional copies use order form attached.
