E. ELECTIVES (9 credits)*

Students in this major are required to take nine credits of elective courses. One elective course must be a 400-level advanced seminar, which can only be taken after achieving 24 credits in the major and fulfilling prerequisites (see below). The remaining courses must be at the 300-level or above (with the exception of ENGL 285).

ENGL _____	3 (400-level Advanced Seminar OR Honors Seminar)
ENGL _____	3
_____	3 (300-level course in Engl or other Dept)

*ENGL 30600 (Literary Theory) is strongly recommended for all Linguistics and Rhetoric majors and is a prerequisite for Engl 490.

All English majors have the option to take one of their elective courses in another department. In order to do this, students must meet all of that department's prerequisites for the course. Students with double majors may apply the course to one of those majors, but not both. For example, someone majoring in English and History who takes HIST 34251 Britain Since 1689 may count that course toward either the English or History major, not both.

Information and a complete list of Eligible Elective Courses in Other Departments are available on the English Department's website. To take a course in a department that is not on the list, students must have prior written permission from an English advisor and must meet all the prerequisites for the course. Permission will be granted only for 300-level courses in other departments.

Note: Linguistics and Rhetoric majors may also choose one additional elective outside of the department from courses related to linguistics or rhetoric offered in other departments:
